Re: Case #2013-00332

Dear Director:

We are residents of the Old Bridge Subdivision in Danville, Kentucky. This letter is to express our opposition to the announced intentions of AmeriGas to discontinue our current gas service via the present pipelines and replace it with individual residential tanks. The current system for which we have already paid significant tap-on fees to receive our gas supply is working well, and we have no complaints about it.

When we built our home here in 1989, it was very clear per the Old Bridge Deed Restrictions that individual property owners were not allowed to place tanks either above or below the ground. This deed restriction applied to each owner in the entire neighborhood, and now it appears that somehow AmeriGas is trying to get around this restriction. However, if we were to install tanks on our lot, we could be sued as the current deed restriction stands.

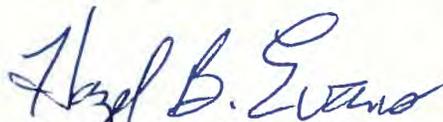

If this proposal were approved, it would put us in a position to spend several additional thousand dollars that was never intended.

We would appreciate your assistance and request that a public hearing be held on this issue. Please notify all Old Bridge residents when and where this hearing will be held.

Respectfully,

John M. Evans
